

Covid-19 Update from Designer Group

Dear Colleagues,

Further to my recent note to you I would like to thank you again for your continuing co-operation and your commitment to complying with the very important guidance issued by Government and the public health authorities.

Designer Group is also fully committed to implementing this guidance and supporting all of our employees, subcontractors and clients at this difficult time. We constantly review the Government guidance so that we can always communicate clearly to you.

All our sites and our head office at Clyde House remain open and will be open for business from Wednesday morning.

However, we will have to continue to be agile enough to respond to any further changes that may be announced by Government and or public health authorities. Those entering sites and company locations on Wednesday, will be asked to complete a self-declaration questionnaire. This is a monitoring tool and in line with recommended best practice.

We will continue to follow all the advice issued by Government and the public health authorities and have already implemented important measures to protect the safety and well-being of our employees. We encourage employees to consult the www.gov.ie and www.hse.ie for the official public health advice, and keep informed.

I must stress that employees must continue to regularly check their Company email for any updates and alerts. {If anything is unclear to you, please contact your line manager. You should have your line manager's mobile phone number.} We will also put any updates we issue by email on the Designer Group website.

Good communication is key at this time.

In summary, our offices and sites are open for business on Wednesday and we look forward to seeing you then. In the meantime, if there are further developments, we will update you as quickly as possible. So please continue to check your email for any updates, check our website and, if necessary, you can contact your line manager. You can also email the Company on covid19queries@designergrp.com if you have any concerns.

Thank you.
